ASKED TO SEEK "TIGER'S" LAIR

New Judge and Prosecutor Receive Anonymous Letters Asking
Grand Jury Investigation.

CONDITIONS IN SMALL TOWN

Receipt of Threatening Communications by Megee Brothers and J. W. Anderson Recalled.

The open season for anonymous letter writers is in again. Judge John D. Megee and Donald Smith had no more than received their appointments as judge and prosecutor
of the new Rush circuit court before they each received a communication
signed "A Citizen."

The citizen, as it happens, lives in a small town in Rush county and he wants alleged "blind tigers" in his place investigated. The authorities refuse to divulge the name of the town where the illegal sale of liquor is supposed to be taking place.

The prosecutor was not disposed to take any cognizance of an anonymous communication but since the writer mentioned the names of several citizens who, he said, can explain
the supposed illegal sale of liquor, Prosecutor Smith proposes to call them before the grand jury, which will be called in session next week,
and find out what they know about the complaint which has been made.
"I intend to deal with everyone im-partially," said the prosecutor. "I expect to investigate every case that comes to my attention. It is the duty of the prosecutor to place what evidence he can before the grand jury and allow it to decide what courses
should be pursued."

The prosecutor said the practice is common in small towns for a crowd of men to "chip in" and buy some intoxicants. Then they get drunk and go on a rampage. Generally in such cases there is no police protection and the citizens have to stand for it.
In the majority of cases, the prosecutor believes, the people get the impression that there is a "blind tiger."

The letter Judge Megee received was from the same person evidently because the handwriting was similar and the subject matter was the same.
The citizen urged the judge to see that the grand jury prosecuted the "blind tiger" operators.

Judge Megee said that the letter he received was thrown in the waste basket as soon as he read it. The waste basket, he said, would be the resting place for any other such communications because he would not heed them. If the writer did not have enough courage to sign his name or to see the court in person, he would need expect no assistance from him,
Judge Megee said.

The receipt of the two letters recall other anonymous letters which have been written to Rush county men in recent months. The fact that

PLAN ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

"Drys" Will Bring at Least Two Speakers to Rushville.

The "drys" are planning to wage an active campaign between now and the time set for the local option election March 4. At least two mass meetings will be held between now and election day. It is anticipated that a former attorney general of Kansas, who went through a temperance fight in his own state, will be one of the speakers. The other will likely be a man well known in public life.

J. W. Anderson, living south of here, received an anonymous letter became public property. The writer warned him to leave $10,000 at the door of a Greensburg bank a certain time or he would be put in dire distress.

It never became known, however,
that Ol. and Frank Megee, two wealthy farmers and stock raisers living east of Rushville, received an anonymous letter about the same time Mr. Anderson did. They were commanded to leave an enormous sum of money in a fence corner designated in the letter, else they would suffer.

The ire of the Megee brothers was aroused and they consulted attorneys here. They and their lawyers went to Indianapolis and placed the matter before a postoffice inspector.
He advised them to keep the affair quiet, and that if they received another letter of the same sort, to advise him and that he would learn who wrote them. They have never received a similar communication.

FARMER ARRESTED ON TWO CHARGES

John Douthit Fined by Squire Kratzer on Affidavit Filed by His Daughter-in-Law.

POLICE GOT HIM IN ST. PAUL

John Douthit, a well known farmer
of Orange township, was fined one dollar and costs, amounting in all to $21.50, in Squire Kratzer's court yesterday afternoon on an assault and battery charge. Douthit was arrested in St. Paul by Chief McAllister.
The officer first went to Douthit's
home which is two miles north of St.
Paul and being unable to locate him went on to the town. Douthit was expecting arrest and came here with the officer where he was given a hearing. He was arrested on two charges, for assault and battery and on surety of peace proceedings. Both charges were preferred by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Elsie Douthit. She claimed Douthit struck her. When he pleaded guilty to the assault and battery charge the other was dismissed.
The fine and costs were paid.

COURT DISPOSED OF SEVERAL CASES

Judge Megee Rendered Judgements in Minor Suits and Made Ruling
on Others.

TWO DEFENDANTS DEFAULTED

Decisions in several minor cases were returned by Judge Megee today.
The first of these was in the case of W. H. Robbins and company against
E. J. Schlichte, on an account demanding $70. The plaintiff was given judgement in the sum of $66.95. The case was sent to this county from Fayette county on a change of venue.
The defendant, Schlichte defaulted.

In the partition suit of John H.
Parker against Minnie A. Billings and William Billings the plaintiff was granted the right to examine the defendants under oath. They were ordered to appear in the office of A. L.
Gary on Feb. 13. The plaintiff demands $2000. Thomas K. Mull was given judgement for $307.38 against Wilbur Stiers. Mr. Mull sued on notes and demanded $339.38. Lee Link, et al., was given judgement against Flora Garrison. The suit was on a mechanics lien demanding $35.

SPICELAND IS INTERESTED TOO

Telephone Company's President
Would Like to See Free Service Established Here.

HAVE TRUNK LINE TO MAYS

Sentiment in Favor of Change May Crystallize by Time of April Meeting.

The president of the Spiceland
telephone company intends to consult with H. G. Hackman, president of the Rushville Merchants association, concerning the agitation for a free telephone service in Rush county. Although just over the Rush county line, the Spiceland company has many subscribers in Rush county and is interested in the plan to put all independent systems in the county on free relations with the Rushville exchange.

The Spiceland system has a trunk line connecting with the Mays telephone company's lines and its subscribers can talk free with any subscribers on systems in the county
which have free relations with Mays.
The Mays operators would be willing to pass Spiceland subscribers
through their exchange to Rushville, if desired. This would be another link in the chain to increase the worth of the Rushville telephone system, if the stockholders would vote to do away with the toll charge to every person on the county lines not paying a flat rate of fifty cents a month for the Rushville service.

The advocate of the free system
for the county are increasing in number and it is not at all improbable but that the sentiment in this direction will crystallize near the time for the annual meeting of the stockholders
of the Rushville Co-operative Telephone company which will be held in April.

Subscribers of the independent lines in the county and others who read the objection of the Rushville managers to the free toll plan for the county declare that the Rushville company would not notice the loss of $1,500 revenue annually. They believe that the receipts of the company would be increased by tolls
that would be received from subscribers on the county systems who wish to talk out of the county and would have to go through the Rushville exchange.

It is also argued by advocates of the free exchange proposition that the Rushville company would realize more revenue off subscribers because more would find use for a telephone
when it covered a wider territory.
They believe that the managers of the Rushville company might try the plan of exchanging free of charge with the small telephone companies in Rush county and prove their assertion that they would lose money by it.

It is stated also that the Rushville company could get more subscribers and increase its revenue if it would positively prohibit the free use of telephones here in the city by non-subscribers. The practice of many Rushville residents using their neighbors' telephone is common. They feel that there is no necessity for paying a monthly rent when they can have the privilege of a telephone without paying anything. All of the independent telephone companies in Rush county have a ban on the promiscuous use of the telephone. They charge a toll for every person who does not have a telephone.

It is argued that the Rushville company could not enforce such an order as easily as the other county exchanges because of the system in use here where there are no telephone grills to answer all calls. It is

DID NOT TALK ABOUT METERS

Mayor Black Says Council Retired
Tuesday Night to Figure on Repairing Room.

TO PRESERVE CITY RECORDS

But Whispering Continues Afterward
Anyway—That "Contract Price"
Mystery Cleared Up.

Mayor B. A. Black denied today that he and three members of the council at the meeting Tuesday night
discussed the water meter question
when they retired to the little old back room for a few minutes. Arnold Ormes, chairman of the water and light committee, seconds the denial of the mayor.

"We merely went to the back room," said the mayor, "to consider repairs which will be made to put the room in shape. We expect to put shelves in it and keep the old city records there. When the field examiners were here, they dug up a lot of old books which we want to preserve.
I have arranged with Joe Williamson for him to take all reporters, who wish to see that room, up and show them around."

The only strange thing is that the mayor and the council should interrupt the heated but whispered conference about water meters by a trip to the back room. When they returned from the room, they continued the whispering, and then the mayor announced the passage of the resolution instructing the water and light superintendent to buy a hundred Keystone water meters at the "contract price." Why the preservation of the old city records, which never before have worried the council, should arise in the midst of the discussion of the water meter question is not understood, or is not even explained.

Mayor Black was asked about the "contract price" today but he pleaded ignorance on this subject. He said he had nothing to do with the matter. He asked the public to recall that at the last regular meeting before the one Tuesday night, the question of purchasing water meters
was left to the water and light committee. That committee, the mayor said, knows what the "contract price" is.

Arnold Ormes, the chairman of the committee, knows what the "contract price" is but he takes issue with the public statement that there was a whispered conference before the announcement of the motion instructing the superintendent to buy a hundred. Mr. Ormes says positively there was no whispering. He said they talked right out in meeting about the purchase of the meters. If they did, every spectator at the meeting was deaf.

"There wasn't any whispering at all," declared Mr. Ormes. "You fellows were all sitting over on the benches talking and just didn't hear us, that's all."

Newspaper reporters and others
commented at the time that the council had some kind of a secret that it was trying to keep from the public because it was so very apparent. The three members of the council, the mayor and the city attorney, drew their chairs up around the table, got their heads together and talked in under tones so that what they said
was not audible enough for one word from another to be distinguished three yards away.

There was no record of the proceedings in the council minutes, with the exception of the motion instructing Supt. Mahin to purchase a hundred meters. The records would not

MISS LENA HAVENS DEAD

Well Known Resident of Arlington
Passed Away.

Miss Lena Havens, 32 years
old, daughter of Frank Havens, died last night at six o'clock at her home in Arlington, after a several weeks illness. The cause of death was heart disease. Miss Havens was well known and was assistant agent
for the traction company in Arlington
for a number of years. She is survived by her father. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon in the Arlington Methodist church and burial will take place in the East Hill cemetery.

HE IS AN AUTHORITY ON SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Dr. Perry R. Sheppard of St. Louis Coming Saturday For Series of Addresses Here.

AT BANQUET MONDAY NIGHT

Dr. Perry R. Sheppard of St.
Louis, Mo., an eminent Sunday school authority of the Christian church will come Saturday to remain until Tuesday, during which time he will speak four times. Dr. Sheppard has been lecturing on pedagogy in Indianapolis this week, and while he was in Indiana, the officials of the Main Street Christian church made an effort to persuade him to come here and succeeded. Dr. Sheppard will be remembered by Rushville people especially by his addresses at the Bethany assembly last summer.
His thoughtful and unusual sayings were given wide publicity in the Indianapolis newspapers.

Dr. Sheppard will make his first talk at the Christian church next Saturday evening when he will touch on Sunday school work. His suggestions will be of interest to all Sunday school teachers, officials and others interested in Sunday school work. He will speak at the church at the regular hour of worship Sunday morning
on the subject, "The New Sunday School and the New Testament." In the evening his topic will be, "The New Church and the New Age." Monday night he will be the chief speaker
at a men's banquet in the basement of the church, given under the auspices of the Men's Century Bible class of the Sunday school.

H.E. BARRETT IS BEING GROOMED

City Attorney is Boomed by Friends
For Place on Public Service Commission.

THE JOB PAYS $5,000 A YEAR

Papers Circulated to Get Recommendations—Knack of Local Democrats to "Get in."

Howard E. Barrett, city attorney and a well known Democrat, is being groomed by his friends for a place on the public utilities commission which is about to be created by the legislature, the lower house of which has already passed a public utilities bill.

J. T. Arbuckle is circulating papers to get recommendations for Mr. Barrett to be presented to Governor Ralston and many others. All of the attorneys in the city have recommended the city attorney very favorably to the governor and that he stands a very fair chance to get the appointment.

Rushville men believe that Mr.
Barrett's chances look good because Rushville and Rush county Democrats seem to have a peculiar knack of "getting in." The leaders of the party here have been especially favored by the state administration in past years, and this year seems to be no exception.

The many friends of Mr. Barrett are very hopeful of his ultimate success and believe that he could fill the position to advantage. A number of Democrats will go to Indianapolis the first of next week to present the recommendations and to make a personal plea to Governor Ralston.

The appointment would be for four years. If the public utilities bill becomes a law, it will become effective May 1. At that time the four-year-term of Judge Woods will expire as a member of the railroad commission.
The railroad commission will be observed by the public service commission and two additional appointments will be made, making five in all on the commission.

Two delegations have already called on Governor Ralston to present
the claims of their friends for an appointment to a place on the proposed utility commission. The bill which has passed the house carries with it two new commissionerships at $5,000
each a year and a job for a "general counsel" who would receive $5,000 a year.

Delphi and Carroll county citizens and men from the ninth district were in a visiting delegation which urged upon the governor the worth and

Do You Really Know What You Are Buying

"I am a judge of cresses," said a peasant, when he was eating hemlock. Many of us would be apt to eat hemlock under the impression that it was cress if we relied upon our own judgment.

In the same way your self-reliance may cause you to buy poor values in the belief that you recognize high quality. Blind buying is the germ of dissatisfaction. It may also be one of the many reasons for the increased cost of living.

You can avoid dissatisfaction, lower to some extent your cost of living, and gain a truer familiarity with the values of the things you purchase by relying on the word of the man who is not in business for a day—the merchant who advertises in THE DAILY REPUBLICAN.

It will repay you to read the advertisements in THE DAILY

Were You Ever Gold Bricked?

If you are thinking of buying a suit of clothes and some one offers you a cheap, out-of-date suit for a little less than I charge for an up-to-date, all-wool suit, made to your individual measure, out of 1913 goods, 1913 model, a suit guaranteed in style, fit, workmanship and wearing qualities, and you buy of him, then and there you are gold-bricked.

I have nearly one thousand patterns of the latest all wool fabrics, from the world's best looms, awaiting your inspection and from which you can select your new spring suit. The prices for the whole suit made to your measure range from $17.00 to $50.00 and some even higher, but any suit we make you, no matter what the price, will fit you, will wear you, will look good on you and will please you, even if it didn't cost you as much as $20.00.

Come in as soon as possible, Easter is not far off, March 23 this year, and judging from the way my canary bird is singing and Al. Linville's shining up, spring is nearly here.

UNSCRAMBLING OF HARRIMAN SYSTEM

Final Plans Ready for the Court's Approval.

New York, Feb. 7.—Of the plan for reorganizing the Union Pacific system by the separation of the Union Pacific from the Southern Pacific and the transfer of Central Pacific from the control of Southern Pacific to that of Union Pacific, all of the numerous essential details have been worked out and a reorganization plan meeting the approval of the attorney general, the Union Pacific directors and the Southern Pacific directors will be laid before the United States court in Utah this week. In the opinion of the attorney general and of the directors of both companies, the plan conforms liberally with both the spirit and the letter of the decision of the supreme court dissolving the Union Pacific system, and it is believed that no objection will be raised to it by any of the parties in interest.

Union Pacific disposes of its $126,000,000 Southern Pacific stock, but acquires from the Southern Pacific control of the Central Pacific with its 1,561 miles of track and thus, as pointed out by the United States supreme court, there is fulfilled the original intention of congress when the Central Pacific and Union Pacific companies were chartered, that is that there be built and operated as one continuous line a railroad from the Missouri river across the Rockies to the Pacific coast.

NO GARNISHEE FOR HOOSIERS

House Kills Bill for Such a Law.

IT WAS A VERY CLOSE CALL

Twice the Measure Which Grocers and Butchers of State So Persistently Have Advocated Received Required Number of Votes, but at Last, When Speaker's Vote Saved It, Enough Votes Were Changed to Kill It.

Indianapolis, Feb. 7.—The Billman garnishee bill, lacking two votes for a constitutional majority, failed to pass on third reading in the house, the vote being 49 to 46. At two different times the bill received the required number, the vote of Speaker Cook once giving it the constitutional majority, but other members changing their votes after a verification of the vote had been called for prevented its passage.

The first test of strength came when a vote was taken on a motion calling for the indefinite postponement of the measure. The motion to postpone was defeated by a vote of 50 to 43, and the bill was immediately placed on its passage.

Announcement that the garnishee bill would be acted upon attracted the biggest lobby present at any time during the session. Hundreds of grocers and meat dealers, who have conducted a long campaign for the enactment of a garnishee law, crowded the space on the house floor allotted to spectators and filled the gallery. Each promoter of the bill wore a badge bearing the words, "I am for House Bill 215."

Intimidation Is Charged.

Representative Carter charged that the grocers, by their presence and methods of campaign, had attempted to intimidate the lawmakers, and he said that one grocer who approached him in a hotel lobby had threatened to cut off his political head.

The grocers were jubilant when it was seen that 51 votes, the required number, had been cast for the bill, but a moment later they were doomed to disappointment when Representative Cunningham of Miami county arose in his seat and changed his vote from "aye" to "no."

The grocers were again in high spirits when Speaker Cook, the last to vote, asked to be recorded as favoring the measure. This again brought the vote up to 51, and the speaker was just in the act of announcing that the bill had passed when several opponents of the measure requested a verification of the roll call. While the verification was being made, Representative Nix of Posey county and Representative Ault of Bartholomew county, who had voted for the bill, defeated it by changing their votes.

Since the bill received a majority, it may again be called up at any time during the session.

No Highway Commission.

Representative Hughes's highway commission bill, termed the administration good roads measure, was killed by an overwhelming vote in the house when a motion to substitute a minority report for the passage of the measure, for the majority report, recommending indefinite postponement, lost by a count of 79 to 13. Indianapolis members voted solidly in favor of the bill on the roll call, but there were few others who supported the measure. Representative Crawford said the bill meant "manufacturing a new barrel for an old bung." He thought the bill was ahead of its time; that an attempt was being made to hurry a doubtful reform. "The farmers would not try to dictate to Indianapolis as to how it should build its streets," said Crawford, "and they don't want Indianapolis to dictate to them how to build their roads."

The house committee on judiciary returned a divided report on the housing bill, championed by Mrs. Albion Fellows Bacon of Evansville and passed by the senate after a long fight. The point emphasized by those opposed to the measure is the clause that would exempt renters from paying rent if owners violated the law.

Teachers' Pension Bill Killed.

The bill for a state-wide teachers' pension and retirement fund, introduced by Senator White, came to a sudden end when the committee education reported it for indefinite postponement. "The bill as drawn was expensive, impractical and a foolish dream," said Senator Curtis, chairman of the committee.

The Stahl bill providing for the enlargement of the school system to include vocational training was passed on third reading in the house, with only six opposing votes.

The senate passed Senator Stotsenburg's bill giving a woman a place on the inspection force of the state bureau of inspection. Senator Curtis's bill providing for uniform text-books for all high schools was passed by a vote of 35 to 1. The Stotsenburg bill permitting prisoners to work on the construction and improvement of roads also was passed.

The house has passed the bill carrying an appropriation of $10,000,000 for the maintenance of the government of the District of Columbia in the next fiscal year.

Want Two Democratic Senators.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 7.—Formal call for a caucus of Democratic members of the Illinois legislature was issued by Arthur Charles, chairman of the party's state committee. The meeting will be held Monday night to ratify the primary nomination of J. Hamilton Lewis and to select candidate for the short term. After that a joint steering committee will be chosen from the house and senate to fight for the election of two Democratic senators.

HAIR TURNING GRAY OR FALLING? JUST MIX SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR!

It's Grandmother's Recipe for Dandruff and Restoring Color to Hair.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also cures dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays skilled chemists do this better than ourselves. By asking at any drug store for the ready-to-use product—called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy"—you will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Some druggists make their own but it's usually too sticky, so insist upon getting "Wyeth's" which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is the best remedy for dandruff, dry, feverish, itchy scalp and to stop falling hair.

Folks like "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" because no one can positively tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly, says a well-known downtown druggist. You dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This requires but a few moments, by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two is restored to its natural color and looks even more beautiful and glossy than ever.

Her Generous Offer. Weedon Groosmith, who is known as an artist as well as an actor, was once assailed by a fair autograph hunter, who thrust her album under his nose as he left the theater one afternoon. "Won't you write me your name, Mr. Groosmith?" she gushed. "If you will leave your book at the stage door with your address and nomenclature for the Actors' Benevolent fund," replied the actor, "I shall do so tomorrow with pleasure." The girl objected. An actress, she declared, "who was far better known than he" had signed her book for sixpence. She pouted at Mr. Groosmith's obduracy. But suddenly she brightened. "I know," she exclaimed. "You shall have the nomenclature if you do me a picture as well."

NOT MUCH DEFINITE WAR NEWS REPORTED

Word From the Front Quite Conflicting.

London, Feb. 7.—There is almost no news regarding Adrianople, and such war news as has reached London is conflicting and not precise. It is stated on the one hand that there have been sanguinary combats, which implies that there has been infantry fighting. On the other hand it is stated that merely a bombardment is proceeding in mild fashion and that there have been few casualties. It seems to be similar to the conflict at Tchataldja.

One Sofia correspondent reports that the Turks have sustained a serious check and that the Bulgarian infantry is slowly gaining ground, Turkish reconnoitering parties having been repulsed with considerable loss.

A Constantinople correspondent declares that the Bulgarians are taking no serious action at Tchataldja.

The belief continues here that the allies do not at present intend to concentrate efforts at Tchataldja. The operations at Gallipoli occupy the chief attention, but here again the stories are divergent. Francis McCullagh in a dispatch to the Daily News describes the fighting there on Wednesday as a big Turkish defeat. He says the Bulgarians won all along the line. The Turks admit losing 5,000 men.

A Sofia correspondent reports that the Bulgarians have captured Bulair.

Bulgars Burn Rodosto. Constantinople, Feb. 7.—While nothing is known officially, it is reported that Ottoman warships bombarded the Bulgarian positions near Rodosto and that the Bulgarians burned Rodosto and retired inland while the Turks landed troops. It is stated that there has been severe fighting at Adrianople, but the result is unknown.

THE AWFUL SUFFRAGETTES

Their Latest Trick to Bring Them to Officialdom's Notice.

London, Feb. 7.—The suffragettes, none of whose explosive chemicals have yet reached the hands of the members of the cabinet through the mail, have nevertheless succeeded in another aggressive trick on the ministers. Nearly every member of the cabinet received by post an envelope marked "private" in which there was a package of red pepper and snuff. The package was so sealed that a sharp jerk was necessary to break it open, whereupon there was much sneezing caused by the mixture. The trick has been effectual in nearly every case. Mr. Acland, parliamentary secretary for the foreign office, got his eyes full of the stuff and was painfully blinded for nearly two hours.

Mrs. Guy Reichtmyer, a widow, killed two of her children and herself at Lebanon, Pa.

The Law is on Trial.

The most important case ever brought under the Sherman anti-trust act is about to begin. At the request of the Department of Justice, the United States Supreme Court has issued a mandate to the Federal Court of the Southern District of New York, directing it to bring the cotton cornerers to trial. This is the sequel to the act of the Supreme Court of a few weeks ago in reversing the decision of the New York court, which held that the indictments against Patten, Brown and their associates for an alleged conspiracy to corner cotton related to an offense which was not touched by the Sherman act. The Supreme Court declared that cornering the market emphatically comes under the ban of that statute, and, therefore, the case now comes up for trial before the lower court on the direct issue which is involved. The issue is of fact and not of law.

The coming trial is significant because it is a criminal proceeding. The effort of Attorney General Wickersham and his associates of the Department of Justice will be to land the accused persons behind prison bars. That men who engineer corners in staple products are liable to imprisonment under the Sherman act was established by the Supreme Court in the suit in which the lower court was reversed. No interpretation of the anti-trust law is involved in this proceeding. "Are the accused guilty of the crime of which they are charged?" This is the only point at issue. It will be a jury trial, and if the verdict be adverse to them jail sentences must be imposed on them. That they will have a fair trial is, of course, certain. The best legal talent in the country is on their side. To men of their wealth fines are easily paid, and they may recoup themselves in further operations. The fines may be charged to the profit and loss account of the concerns to which they belonged, and the culprits may not feel them at all. But a term in jail can not be pushed off by the guilty person on anybody else. It is a punishment which hits them alone, and carries a humiliation which will remain with him to his death.

"By this decision the Supreme Court has shown a way to stop corners and to punish gambling speculators who attempt to run pools, deals and corners in wheat, cotton, lard and stocks on the big boards of trade and stock exchanges. The problem of the high cost of living can be solved under it." This was Attorney General Wickersham's view, as expressed when the Supreme Court's ruling was made, and in this opinion he is sustained by good legal authority outside of the government service. Moreover, as he said, the Sherman law now offers "an effective method of reaching the gamblers without interfering in any way with legitimate sales for future delivery, whether long or short." Here are considerations which show that the coming trial will be much more epoch-making than any which has come thus far under the anti-trust act. It will be watched with interest by the entire country. Especially will it be of interest to the masses who feel the pressure of the high cost of living, for its scope will touch everything which they wear and eat.

Senator Kistler's judiciary committee in the legislature has made a favorable report of the George Ray bill, introduced by Senator Hauck, who says Ray gave it to him. George formerly was in the newspaper business in Shelbyville, but he is now engaged as a henchman in the extensive retinue of Tom Taggart—and as a side line is running a weekly newspaper. The Ray bill applies only to Indianapolis and provides that the law specifying that certain legal notices must be published in daily newspapers should be changed so as to include weekly papers. Tom Taggart always takes care of his friends.

When you agree with a newspaper, it is the great benefactor. When you disagree with it, the newspaper is the incarnation of all the imps of the lower strata.

Not that we have a complaint, but we heard a certain person say the other day he was to have a bill introduced in the legislature to prohibit colyming, which naturally makes us feel all out of sorts.

A Kokomo man put some phonograph records on a radiator and they melted away. This will be received with gerat rejoicing in some quarters.

The day seldom passes that a new tuberculosis "cure" is not discovered. This is an age for discoveries. We "discovered" something once but we couldn't make anybody else believe so.

At a New York reception recently, the hostess placed diotographs in all the cozy corners, and as entertainment for the guests, reproduced what they had gathered on a phonograph. This is recommended for local consumption.

All incomes of more than $5,000 are subject to the new tax. They'll have to get up something better than that to get a shudder out of most of us.

People's Column

FOR I. U. AID.

Bloomington, Indiana.
January 31, 1913.

To The Editor:

In a meeting of the students and faculty in the gymnasium at Indiana university a few days ago the students were made to realize the position in which the university has been placed in the last few years, and the utter impossibility of carrying out any adequate university ideal or program with the money for maintenance which the state now provides. Hearty co-operation was urged upon the students, alumni, and all people throughout the state.

The University is asking from the present general assembly the doubling of the tax of one-tenth of one mill now levied for the support of Indiana university. The proceeds of the present tax amounted in 1911-1912 to $183,937. The change asked for would increase the tax paid only $1.00 on $10,000 assessed valuation. This request is not exorbitant and would not be a burden upon any individual in the state. If the university is to live, and prosper, it must expand with the expanding needs of the time.

Indiana stands fifth in point of population, and seventh in point of estimated wealth among the states of Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Minnesota, Kansas and Nebraska. But there is no one of these states which is not making better provisions for higher education than is Indiana. Our state not only stands last in the group, but (excepting Nebraska) her yearly contribution is less than any other by more than the whole income of Indiana university during the last year. Here are the incomes and the number of the higher educational institutions in these several states during the year 1911-12:

Wisconsin (one)	$2,189,056
Minnesota (one)	2,344,455
Illinois (one)	2,305,211
Missouri (one)	1,854,743
Iowa (two)	1,678,376
Michigan (two)	1,936,245
Kansas (two)	1,285,569
Ohio (three)	1,590,641
Nebraska (one)	911,840
Indiana (two)	831,817

You have seen by means of the foregoing figures the place where Indiana stands in comparison with her sister states. Will the people of Rush county lend a helping hand to place Indiana university upon an equal footing with her sister states? You can do so by appealing to your representatives.

An institution which deserves its support from taxes paid by citizens of the state may with justice be asked to make returns in proportion to the amount of aid received. The most important contribution to the state is the men and women whom it sends back to society with hearts and minds trained for useful citizenship. In addition the university makes a return to the state in dollars and cents which far exceeds the amount that it receives in the way of taxes.

For instance, the department of Geology has meant much to the state.

Willis S. Blatchley, state geologist from 1894 to 1911, was trained at Indiana university. Much of the field and other detail work of the epoch-making surveys undertaken by him was performed by students, graduates, and faculty members of the university. Most of this work was done absolutely without compensation from the state.

The Chemistry, Medicine, Charities, and Education departments have produced and are capable of producing the same results. The state universities are the special centers for this expert knowledge. They are the logical institutions for producing and making accessible to ALL the people the results of modern research in every line.

The university is facing one of the most important crises in its history. The state must come to the relief of the university with this increase in financial support which is sought. If the state fails to do this during the present session of the legislature, you may expect to see Indiana university lose her standing among the great institutions of the country. The friends of the university and citizens of each community can help. Will they?

Sincerely yours,

H. LOUIS MAUZY.

abilities of Judge Charles R. Pollard of Delphi as an applicant for a position as a public service commissioner. Judge Pollard has been a seeker for a place on the railroad commission.

Another delegation gave reasons to Governor Ralston why Charles Hughes of Peru should have one of the $5,000 jobs to be provided under the Spencer bill for the regulation and control of public utilities. Hughes is an attorney, who formerly was a railroad engineer. He served several years as clerk of Miami county.

Still another citizen who is being strongly urged and considered in connection with the proposed new commission is Judge James L. Clark of Danville, one of the closest and most valued advisers of the new governor.

Thomas Duncan of Princeton, still another close friend of Governor Ralston, has been looked upon as a very strong probability in connection with the railroad commission place. It is understood Mr. Duncan's friends have transferred their quest to fit the change in conditions surrounding the railroad commission. The same thing transpired in Mr. Barrett's case. He is said to have been a candidate for the vacancy on the railroad commission.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

A marriage license was issued yesterday afternoon to Ray Gurley and Mabel Binford.

Saturday, February 15, at two p. m. the district organizer of the National Horsethief Detective Association will be at Rushville to organize the local association. The meeting will be at the court house. All parties desiring to become members should be present at the stated time and place. 28413.

Notice to Contractors.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Commissioners of the County of Rush and State of Indiana, will receive sealed proposals at their office in the Court House, in the city of Rushville, Indiana, up until 2 o'clock p. m., on Tuesday, the 4th day of March, 1913, for the construction of brick and macadam highway in Rushville city and township, Rush county, Indiana, as petitioned for by Charles H. Alger, et al., and heretofore ordered established and constructed which said highway is more particularly described as follows, to-wit:

Beginning at a point on the old Ft. Wayne road where said road crosses the north line of the south-east quarter of section thirty-two (32), township fourteen (14) north, range nine (9) east, thence in a southwesterly direction over and along the said old Ft. Wayne road to Seventh street, in the city of Rushville; thence in the westerly direction over and along Seventh street, in said city of Rushville, to a point where said Seventh street connects with Sixth street, in said city; thence in a westerly direction over and along Sixth street to Perkins street in said city; thence south over and along Perkins street to the north side of Second street, in said city of Rushville, Indiana, be graded, drained and paved to the width of said highway as now established. The total length of said road being six thousand one hundred and seven (6107) feet from Station 0 at Eleventh street extended and Ft. Wayne road to Station 17 plus 21 is macadam cover with gravel. From Station 17 plus 21 to Station 61 plus 7 is brick pavement with curb and gutters, with alleys and streets to property lines.

All to be in accordance with the plans and specifications and profile on file in the auditor's office of Rush county, Indiana.

All bids must be accompanied by bond as required by law.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

Witness our hands and seals this 3d day of February, 1913.

TO PUT QUESTION UP TO GREATHOUSE

Milroy "Eastiders," Defeated at Polls, Are Not Satisfied With School House Site.

SAY MORE GROUND IS NEEDED

Not content with defeat at the polls, the Milroy "eastiders" are circulating a petition, to be presented to State Superintendent Charles A. Greathouse, demanding that the new Milroy school house, which will be built to replace the one which was destroyed four weeks ago today, be erected on the east side of Milroy. At the election last Saturday, those in favor of rebuilding on the old site west of the Big Four railroad won by a majority of seventy-seven votes.

Even though they are in the majority, the people favoring the new site are not whipped yet. They argue that agriculture will soon be taught in the school and that much more ground than is in the old site will be needed in case the innovation is started in the school. They propose to have the opinion of the state superintendent before they give up the fight.

Amusements

The Palace will have another program tonight showing for the first picture "The Fall of Troy." It is said to be a very fine drama taken from history. The other pictures include "East Lynn," "The Train Wreckage" and several other pictures equally as good.

The Princess will show an exciting railway drama "On Donovan's Division" for the first picture tonight. It is an Edison picture and one scene shows a runaway engine. The other picture is a Pathe comedy, "The Three Bachelors' Turkey."

CHAPTER II.

In Love Successful.

"But, my dear—but Laura, you don't stop to think!" exclaimed a certain young man to a certain young woman, at a somewhat interesting and important moment of their lives. "You certainly do not mean to say—to tell me—to tell me! Why—!"

He ceased, a gasp in his throat at the unbelievable effrontery of the woman who faced him in this situation. All he had asked of her was to marry him. And she had hesitated. It was a thing incredible!

It was Mr. Rawn, our hero. It could have been almost no one else who could have sustained precisely this attitude at precisely such a time.

As to the young woman herself, who now turned a somewhat pale face to one side as she left her hand in his, she might have been any one of many thousand others in that city. Her hair was brown, her features regular enough, her complexion nondescript, her garb non-committal. Not a person of ancient lineage, you would have said, or of much education in the world's ways, or of much worldly goods—these things do not always come to a saleswoman of twenty-five, whose salary is six dollars a week. Yet her face had in it now a very sweet sort of womanliness, her mouth a tender droop to it.

He leaned again toward her, insistent, frowning, imperious. This was as she had planned. What, then, lacked? If she had sought for some strong man to sweep her from her calm, why was she now so calm?

"You surely do not stop to consider," he renewed. "Why, look at me!"

Laura Johnson did stop to consider. She wanted to be a wife, loved, cherished, supported, comforted and protected. And certainly she could choose only among the opportunities offered her. This was her first opportunity. It might be her last.

She sighed a trifle as she laid aside the garment of her girlhood, which had kept her sweet and clean for five and twenty years. She folded both her worn and rather bony hands, put them both in his, and said, with a little smile that ought to have wrung his heart, "Well, John, if—if it must be!"

John Rawn, then, married Laura Johnson, and they lived unhappily ever after. That is to say, she did. As for her lord, he did not notice his wife to any great extent after once they had settled down together, but came to regard her as one of those incidents of life which classify with food, clothing, the need of sleep.

He was a solemn man in his home, or at least for the most part silent. He ate all the beefsteak there was on the table when there was but enough for one, which latter often was the case, for his wife had need to be frugal. At times he would purchase a solitary ticket to the theater and go alone. Yet he was generous, and always after his return home he would with fine feeling tell his wife what he had seen.

After the birth of Grace Rawn, their daughter, which occurred within the first year of their wedded life, Laura Rawn had something to interest her for the remainder of their days. Her horizon widened now immeasurably; indeed to the extent of giving her a world of her own wherein she could dwell apart quite comfortably; one in which her husband had no part. Simple and just in her way of thought, she accepted the truth that without married life, without her husband, this new world could not have been her own.

As to the child herself, she grew steadily and normally into young girlhood, in time into young womanhood, not given to much display, reserved

Must You Be Bald?

What have you done to stop your hair from falling? Have you tried Rexall "93" Hair Tonic? If not, we want you to try it at our risk.

If you have dandruff, if your hair is falling out and your scalp is not glazed and shiny, if you use Rexall "93" Hair Tonic according to directions for thirty days, and at the end of that time you are not thoroughly satisfied with the results and will tell us so, we will immediately hand back your money. We won't ask you to promise anything. We won't even question you. We will take your mere word and return your money.

Doesn't it stand to reason that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic must be a mighty good remedy and have given great satisfaction to our customers if we endorse it like this? We know of no similar remedy that is as good. It is because of what Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has done for others that we back it with our own money.

Why suffer scalp and hair trouble or be bald, when Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will remove dandruff, make your scalp comfortable and healthy, promote hair growth and tend to prevent baldness—when we will pay for the treatment should it fail to please you?

We don't oblige you to anything. You simply buy the treatment; use it, and if not pleased, come back to us empty-handed—and we will hand back what you paid us. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00 a bottle. You can buy Rexall "93" Hair Tonic in this community only at our store:

or judgment as well as of speech, oftentimes sullen in mood, yet withal a step or so higher than her mother on the ladder of feminine charm. She had a clean, good family rearing, and a good grammar school education. At about the time her father came to be a man of middle age, Grace fell into her place in the clerical machine of the railway office where he worked; for very naturally, being an American girl of small means, she took up shorthand, and was licensed to do violence.

The head of this family, as he attained additional solidity of figure, grew even heavier of brow, trod with even more stateliness about his appointed duties. At forty-seven years of age his salary was but one hundred and twenty-five dollars a month. That showed only the lack of wisdom of others, not unfitness in himself.

And yet all this time success was lying in ambush, as it sometimes does, ready to spring forth at the appointed hour.

It was this, focused suddenly and unexpectedly by the lens of accident into a burning point of certainty, which marked the air and attitude of John Rawn one evening on his return to his home at the conclusion of his day's work.

"Laura," said he, "Laura, it's come! I've got the idea. It's going to win. We're going to be rich. I've believed it all along, and I know it now! Laura, look at me—didn't I always tell you so—didn't I know?"

For some time Mrs. Rawn said nothing in answer to her husband's declaration. She had known such things before.

But today there was something so sincere in his air as to take her beyond her own forced insincerity with herself.

"What is it, John?" she demanded. "You can't understand it, Laura; but listen. Give the people something they haven't had; get them so they have to have it. We can't go fast enough. But we're going faster. We'll go twice as fast."

"That's my business. That's my invention. That's how I'm going to get rich."

"Laura, I'm going to make it possible to gear up our national life, to double its present speed," he went on savagely.

She leaned back in her chair, sighing. "Do you think I could have a silk dress, John?" she said at length, her mind overleaping vast intermediate details.

"My God, woman!" She sat, trying to rise to the pitch of such ambition, but succeeded only in remaining commonplace. "How did you come across it, John?" she asked after a little.

"The truth is, I picked it up from a word or so I heard in a chance conversation—two young fellows from the engineering department were talking something over. That young chap named Halsey, just out of some college, full of fads, you know."

"I thought you said this was your own idea?"

"It is my own. What is thrown away deliberately, and picked up, is mine, if I see the value of it. Young Halsey didn't know. He's just a visionary."

"Halsey—Charles Halsey of the offices? He's been here—I think Grace—you see, the Personal Injury office, where she works, is just across the hall from the Engineering—"

"Well, it's no difference. I'm going to take care of the affair myself."

"Charles," said John Rawn one evening, "I have been thinking over some scientific problems."

"In my belief," went on Rawn, frowning at this flippancy, "I am upon the eve of a great success, Charles."

"What sort of success, Mr. Rawn?" inquired Halsey.

Rawn smiled largely. "You will hardly credit me when I tell you, almost all sorts of success! To make it short, I have formed a power company—a concern for the cheap generation and general transmission of power. In the course of a few months we'll proceed in the manufacture of electrical transmitters and receivers for what I call the lost current of electricity."

Halsey stood cold for a moment, and looked at him in amazement.

"You don't mean to say—why, that's precisely what I've been thinking of for so long."

"I don't doubt many have been thinking of it," rejoined Rawn. "It had to come. These things seem to happen in cycles."

"Moreover, I've got the company formed."

"You, Mr. Rawn? How did you manage that? I didn't know that you—"

"A great many haven't known about a great many things," said Rawn, walking up and down, his hands in his pockets, his air gloomily dignified.

"Is it a big company?" queried Halsey wearily.

"Twenty-five million dollars," answered John Rawn calmly.

"We are going to dam the Mississippi river, a couple of hundred miles above here at the ledges. For the time, that will be our central power plant. We will contract for a million and a half dollars' worth of power each year in St. Louis alone. That comes down by regular wire transmission. That is nothing, it's only a drop in the bucket. Our big killing is going to be with the other scheme—the second current—the same idea you've been trifling with. We'll go east with that."

WHAT IS VINOL?

About Which We Hear So Much? Our Druggist Tells You

After twenty years of study two eminent French chemists discovered a method by which the alkaloids or medicinal curative elements of the cod's liver could be separated from the useless oil or grease. The oil which has no medicinal value is thrown away, but the healing, curative properties are blended with tonic iron and a mild medicinal wine which makes Vinol, thus combining in one medicine the two most world famed tonics.

Vinol is not a secret medicine as its ingredients are printed on every bottle, and in all cases where the healing, curative influence of cod liver oil, or the blood building, strengthening influence of tonic iron is needed, Vinol gives immediate benefit, for it is easily assimilated and acceptable to the weakest stomach.

For all run-down, weakened conditions, and to cure chronic coughs, colds and bronchial troubles, Vinol is unexcelled. We will return your money if it fails. F. B. Johnson and Company, druggists, Rushville, Ind.

hundred dollars was as important as young Halsey's original idea; which latter Mr. Rawn had also appropriated.

So now these two brought very considerable bundles of copper wire and other things, and made several machines of this and the other shape, and tried divers experiments. In all this work young Halsey's manual skill and technical training continually was in quest, John Rawn for the most part standing by and frowning heavily, watching Jacob labor for the earning of Rachel; for Halsey knew this surrender of his idea was the price of Grace. Halsey had little hope of ultimate success in his appliances. Not so Rawn. He had something akin to a feeling of certainty.

Differing thus—yet who shall say they were not partners, after all, since all these things were true regarding them?—they at last emerged from the woodshed in Kelly Row, after many long weeks. They carried into the front room of the Rawn house in Kelly Row a small machine, which presently was to do large things. This novel and mysterious little machine, with a glass jar underneath, many coils and wheels within, and an odd, toothed crest of little preaching metal fingers, had been produced only at great cost, great sacrifice. It had seemed wholly right and reasonable that all of young Halsey's five hundred dollars should disappear little by little, and it had done so, long ago. It seemed proper that the small savings which Grace had deposited in a tin baking-powder can—for she was like her mother, part ground-squirrel, and secretive—should also disappear little by little, and they also had gone. In some way, only the women knew how, they all had had enough to eat, so far as that meant actually necessary food; but the entire Rawn family were a gaunt and haggard, as well as a wearied and anxious quartette, when finally they gathered about the little machine out of the woodshed. Their play was on one card and the card was turned. What was it?

In the most commonplace way in the world, and quite as though he had always done this very thing, Mr. Henry Warfield Standley, president of the I. & D. A. Railway Co., warned in advance by Mr. Rawn's telephone, came to the door himself. Presently the three, Rawn, Halsey and the president of the company for which both so long had worked, sat at the long-glass-covered table, where lay many papers. The president pushed a button and ordered the attendance of Mr. Theodosius Ackerman, the general traffic manager; so that now they made four in company.

Very little was said, but after a time young Halsey nervously removed the newspaper from his little machine, and displayed it uncovered on the table, a ribbed and coiled and toothed little model, showing file marks here and there, and resembling nothing in particular in the world. Young Halsey, tacitly elected spokesman by Rawn, cleared his throat as he addressed the president of the road, for whom he still felt naught but awe.

"We have put our receiver in tune with the dynamo in the basement of this building, Mr. Standley," began he, finally.

"And now you can see right here, on the table before you, about all the rest of it that we have. It isn't attached to anything at all. There is no wired connection of any sort whatever. Now if we can run that electric fan over there with 'juice' that we can take right out of the air—with the second current which we take out of the motor in the basement—just as well as the primary current wired to the fan will run it, why, then, it looks to me as though our receiver here ought to be accepted as a working device."

The room was silent now. They sat looking at him. He resumed:

"Besides, this receiver is more powerful than you think. I suppose I could burst that fan wide open with it, by just wiring the two, after disconnecting the original wiring of the fan to the house dynamo."

Halsey spoke very calmly, yet the hands of the president of the road, resting on the edge of the table, trembled slightly. The fighting red had disappeared from the face of the G. T. M. He was bluish gray, as though deathly ill. He was, however, the first to recover. "Well, why don't you burst it, then?" he exclaimed savagely, mopping at his forehead.

Every man present sprang back from the little instrument on the table. There came a slowly increasing purr of the motor, a series of intense blue sparks showing at the

INTERESTING EXPERIENCE OF JOHN R. ROSS

JOHN R. ROSS.

Arcadia, Ind., Feb. 3.—The recovery of John R. Ross, of this city, who for seven years suffered from a bad cough and bronchitis, has caused a great deal of comment among his friends and neighbors. His recovery was effected by the timely use of Nature's Creation, the new remedy for tuberculosis and kindred diseases. The following is his own story: I go, and you can use these remarks if they will induce other sufferers to take the medicine. I am more than grateful to Nature's Creation for what it has done for me. Very truly yours, John R. Ross, Arcadia, Ind.

"I take pleasure in telling what Nature's Creation has done for me. I had not felt well for seven years. The doctors pronounced my trouble bronchitis. I had a miserable cough, sleep was poor and I had pains in my limbs. I must say that Nature's Creation has proven of great benefit to me. I am better in every way. That awful cough did not bother me after I had taken the medicine but a short time. Since April 1st, 1912, when I began the medicine, I have gained fifteen pounds in weight, sleep good and appetite fine. I do just as much work as the other fellow. I am telling others about Nature's Creation in the treatment of tuberculosis and the conditions which lead to it, such as weak lungs, bronchitis, impure blood, run-down system and asthma, will be sent free of all charges. The booklet also contains photos and testimonials from local parties telling of many remarkable recoveries from asthma and tuberculosis in all forms. Address: M. L. Haymann, 417 State Life Building, Indianapolis, Ind. Nature's Creation is not a patent medicine and is not sold in drug stores.

toothed points of reception. The blades of the fan began to revolve faster and faster; so fast that at length both eye and ear ceased to record their doings. Then, after sight and sound had failed to serve, there came a crash!

There was no fan on the shelf where it had stood. Fragments of metal were buried in the woodwork, in the wall. John Rawn wiped the blood from a cut on his cheek. No one said anything. It was quite commonplace, after all.

"You wished to see what it would do," said Halsey grimly. "The power seems to be there. Any time you like, any amount you like. And you saw that it didn't come in here by wire—it was only transmitted from the receiver, not to it. The fan is broken, but the receiver is just the way we left it. Well, it looks as though we had settled a few questions, doesn't it?"

EDITOR PUT IN JAIL RETURNS TO CHARGE

Unusual Turn In Philadelphia Political Fight.

Philadelphia, Feb. 7.—Dragged from his bed at midnight, Marlen E. Pew, editor of the News-Post, the Scripps-McRae newspaper of Philadelphia, was taken half way across Philadelphia and thrown into a cell in the Belgrade and Clearfield street police station, from which he was not released until 11 o'clock in the morning, when he furnished $6,000 in cash bail for his appearance before Magistrate Campbell, who issued the warrant.

This is the second arrest of Pew within two weeks and both on the same charge, that of libelling Magistrate James Carey, a henchman of Senator Penrose and State Senator McNichol. Pew in the columns of the News-Post has charged Carey with every political crime on the calendar, from jury box stuffing up and down. Upon being released he served notice editorially upon Penrose, McNichol and Carey that he would keep up the fight.

Mrs. Beach Proves Excellent Witness in Husband's Behalf.

Aiken, S. C., Feb. 7.—Mrs. Beach's testimony in behalf of her husband, Frederick O. Beach, dissipated utterly whatever doubt existed as to the verdict which the jury will bring in. The admirable showing made by the plucky woman under a rough questioning by the prosecuting attorney made it apparent that the jury would exonerate her husband of the charge of having slashed her throat with intent to kill. It is believed that the jury will not be out more than a few minutes.

Suicide of Young Girl.

Rensselaer, Ind., Feb. 7.—Elizabeth Whited, sixteen years old, daughter of a well-to-do farmer, committed suicide. She became involved in a quarrel with her brother, two years younger, and threatened to kill him. Her mother stopped the quarrel and the girl went to her room after getting a vial of poison from the pantry. She drank the stuff and died before a physician reached the home.

POLICE STORIES INVOLVE OTHERS

A General Shakeup Among New York Police.

SUSPENSIONS ARE IN ORDER

Inspector Dennis Sweeney, Captain Walsh, Captain Thompson and Captain Hussey Have Been Let Out on the Confession of Walsh and Inquiry Now in Progress Is Expected to Open the Net For Others.

New York, Feb. 7.—Recognizing the gravity of the police situation brought about by the confession of Captain Thomas W. Walsh, Police Commissioner Waldo has suspended from duty Captain Walsh, Inspector Dennis Sweeney, whom Captain Walsh accused in his statement to District Attorney Whitman, Captain J. F. Thompson and Captain James E. Hussey. Captains Thompson and Hussey formerly were inspectors and each had been in command of the Sixth inspection district, which comprises the Harlem precincts, at successive periods in the time covered by Captain Walsh's confession.

Commissioner Waldo also took away from the office of the Harlem inspector the ten central office policemen who have been assigned to plain clothes duty in the district under Inspector Sweeney, and distributed them over the city to do patrol duty in uniform.

Later the district attorney went to the home of Captain Walsh for another talk with the captain. This conference lasted for hours and the district attorney is said to have obtained from the self-confessed grafter a much more complete story of police conditions in the East 126th street precinct. The action of Commissioner Waldo in suspending the inspector and the three captains was based on information obtained for the commissioner by the new Third Deputy Commissioner Newberger from Captain Walsh direct, and after a conference between the police commissioner and Mayor Gaynor.

Chairman Curran of the aldermanic committee investigating the police department, has called a special meeting of the committee at 2 o'clock this afternoon. It is said the testimony which the committee will be asked to hear will be very interesting and will involve other police officials and those already accused.

DEMOCRATIC EDITORS MEET

Indiana State Association Holding Session at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Feb. 7.—The members of the Indiana Democratic Editorial association are holding their annual midwinter meeting in this city today. The business session was preceded last evening by a reception and banquet at the Denison hotel. United States Senators Shively and Kern, who were special guests at the banquet, today addressed the members of the Indiana general assembly in joint session in the chamber of the house of representatives.

The association met at 8:30 this morning for its regular midwinter business session and adjourned in time for the members to be present at the statehouse when the senators from Indiana addressed the legislature. The session then reconvened during the afternoon to complete its business. Mrs. Ralston, assisted by Mrs. Kern, received at her home this afternoon in honor of the wives and daughters of the Democratic editors. It was the first social function in Governor Ralston's home at Twenty-first and Delaware streets.

HE PERISHED MISERABLY

Body of Society Burglar Who Broke Prison Found in Marsh.

San Francisco, Feb. 7.—The body of Herbert Repsold, the "perfumed burglar," who escaped from San Quentin four weeks ago, has been found in a marsh only a few miles away from the penitentiary. Repsold escaped at night, and it was a full half hour before his escape was known.

Repsold's parents were wealthy and he was a social favorite. It was to secure money to buy presents for women that he took to burglary. He had a fad for violet perfume and he used this scent on his burglar tools. It was through this perfume that he was caught.

Merchant Fires Into Crowd.

Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 7.—The first shedding of blood in connection with the strike of the garment workers occurred here when Valentine Sauter, proprietor of a clothing shop, fired a shotgun into a crowd of strikers who were engaged in a demonstration in front of his place of business. One girl striker, Ida Braeman, seventeen years old, was killed by the shot, and three other persons were injured.

HONESTY IN ADVERTISING

WE have always striven to win and hold the confidence of this community. Its belief in us, its entire trust, is a prize, that above all others, we aim to keep.

By our deeds and our words we seek to establish this bond of confidence between the public and ourselves. To this end we have endeavored in the past to make our announcements in a simple language impossible to misconstrue, and the same policy will be carried out in the future.

Truth is the very soul of advertising. We wish in our advertisements to be taken literally. In them we say only what we mean, and we promise only what we can literally fulfill.

Advertising is one of the principal contact points with the public, and upon the quality of it, to a great extent, depends our success. Therefore our announcements, by their candor, truthfulness and straightforwardness, but reflect the salient features of our policy—courteous service, value giving, integrity and quality.

have shown what the contract price was or why the council decided to purchase the Keystone meters.

In order to make the purchase a matter of record, Supt. Mahin suggested to the chairman of the committee that he (Mr. Mahin) prepare a written proposition to make to the Keystone company embodying the contract which the meter company made to the committee. The chairman "fell in" with the suggestion at once and the purchase of the meters will likely be made a matter of record at the next meeting. If the Keystone company accepts the proposition made in the letter, the city will have a duplicate on file in case of any litigation arising.

But about that "contract price." Arnold Ormes says that many water meters have been tested out and the Hersey and Keystone have been found to be best adopted for the purposes of Rushville, considering the kind of water supply the city has. It was understood Mr. Ormes said the Hersey and Keystone meters cost the same and were practically the same in mechanism. When he was asked why the committee purchased the Keystone meters, he replied because they were the cheapest.

In the first place, Mr. Ormes said he did not mean they cost the same but said that because the cost was so nearly equal. The Hersey company agreed to sell the city a hundred for $1,200 and "throw in" fifteen extra as rebate. The Keystone company made the same price but agreed to "throw in" sixteen meters as rebate. Mr. Ormes says there is no agreement that the next order should be purchased from the Hersey company.

Mr. Ormes says it is not definitely settled that the consumers shall be charged $12.60 for a water meter. The committee chairman thinks the city ought to have something for installing the meter after the consumer pays cash for one in order to get any water. A hundred meters at $12.00 would be $12 a meter. The sixty cents is for coupling. Mr. Ormes thinks the sixteen meters which the company "throws in," will "pay" the city for installing the hundred meters. Under that basis the city will receive about $2.00 for installing each meter.

Mr. Ormes was asked if he thought it the proper course to compel the water consumers to pay $12.60 cash in order to get a water meter.

"I believe it is," he replied. "We would have to charge more for water if we did not receive money from the consumers for meters. We should not give them away because it would make the taxpayers stand the expense and they do not all use city water."

"But there are not many who do not use water, are there?"

"Oh, yes sir," he answered, "There are lots of people who do not use city water."

believed by many, however, that the company could derive some revenue from pay stations in the city.

The stockholders of the Orange telephone company, at their annual meeting this week, started the ball rolling when they appointed a committee of three to assist in the movement to get a free telephone service all over the county. Ed McKee, Dr. W. R. Phillips and John F. McKee, who composes the committee, will cooperate with representatives of other county companies to bring influence to bear on the Rushville company to abolish the flat rate and toll plan now in force.

FRANKLIN HERE TONIGHT

Will Play Locals at High School "Gym."

One of the best basketball games of the season is promised tonight when the Franklin high school team plays the locals at the Graham school "gym." Franklin has one of the best teams in the state and a fast game is expected. The Rushville team is in good condition for the contest and the team has a chance of winning. The locals were defeated by Franklin once this year but tonight the team will have the advantage of playing on its own floor. The team will be without the services of Roam, at guard. He sustained a broken nose in the Newcastle game last Friday and is not yet able to play. Two teams composed of girls will play the curtain raiser. The first game will be called at 7:30 o'clock.

at a cut price. We are not going to charge you an outlandish profit on a buggy today in order to sell your neighbor one at a sacrifice price tomorrow and we have two reasons for this, one of them is that it is not treating you right to charge you more for an article than we charge your neighbor, and the second reason is that our margin of profit is figured on a basis that makes it impossible to cut our prices and make a profit. The fact is this: that we can sell you a buggy any day in the year cheaper than you can buy one of the same grade any other place in the county, and if you have waited until this time to buy a Storm Buggy, we want a chance to prove to you that we can take care of you on this proposition better than any one else, regardless of cut prices that they may advertise.
